CAPTAIN'S LIFE WAS MENACED

Passengers on Ill-Fated Steamer Threatened to Shoot Him

YIELDED TO DEMANDS

And People Were Taken Ashore in Life Boats, But 29 Perished.

Santa Barbara, Cal, July 8.—That four seamen and 25 passengers perished last night in the wreck of the steamer Santa Rosa off Arguello Point was the statement of survivors who arrived here by train today Purser Carlton admits that he is unable to check off the names of the passengers, and that he is by no means certain that all of the 290 passengers landed safely.,

The survivors bitterly criticize Capt Faris for holding them on board the vessel as she lay on the rocks all day yesterday, when a landing could have been affected without peril to anyone. Finally a delegation of passengers headed by two San Francisco men, went to the Captain and threatened to shoot him unless they were permitted to land. With the sea rising at an alarming rate Faris decided to yield to their request.

A few minutes later the steamer split amidship and began to break up. The first life boat launched was at 1 o'clock and all aboard perished Sentries have been placed along shore near the wreck to watch for bodies which are expected to be cast up by the waves.. The survivors declare that officers of the steamer are trying to hide the number who perished

All the passengers were drenched in the trip from the wreck to the beach and it is feared several may die from exposure. Seven were taken to a hospital today in a critical condition The steamer is fast breaking up and will be a total loss.

Surf, Cal, July 8—A dozen passengers and members of the crew of the wrecked Santa Rosa of the Pacific Coast Steamship Line were drowned yesterday in the surf while trying to escape from that vessel, which stranded near Point Arguello, six miles south of here, before dawn

In two lifeboats they left the ship, plunged into the surf and in a moment were floundering in the waters The lives of some were pounded out against the rocks, while others sank to the bottom. Several bodies were washed ashore

Last night a third lifeboat put out and it, too, was capsized

Late last night the Santa Rosa was almost submerged and frantic efforts were being made to save the rest of the 200 passengers still on board

The total dead is placed at 12

At that hour, the government wireless station at Point Arguello reported that the vessel had broken amidship and that immense breakers were dashing over her The ship will be a complete wreck.

The doom of the steamer was sealed shortly after 4 o'clock in the afternoon when a rising wind stirred a high sea and forced the abandonment of efforts at that time to transfer the passengers of the Santa Rosa to the steamer-schooner Centralia, which, with the schooner Helen P Drew, had previously tried to float it Up to that time there were no apprehensions of danger among the officers and crew of the stranded vessel It was thought she could be floated easily In fact, Captain Faria answered wireless queries with the statement that the ship apparently was lying easy and would be floated at the crest of the tide last night

But as the afternoon wore on danger rapidly increased and by nightfall it became certain that desperate efforts would be necessary to save any one of the ship's company

Early in the day the Centralia and the Helen P Drew had passed hawsers to the Santa Rosa but the wind was too strong for their limited horsepower and at dusk the Santa Rosa swung broadside to the breakers

Immediately she began to break up The crash of timbers and steel could be heard by wireless men at Point Arguello.

The first life boat was launched near dark after every effort had been made to establish boat communication with the Centralia

The shore line lay only 300 feet from the broken ship but the little craft could not make it It bobbed on the crest of the breakers and the next instant was submerged There were 16 persons in this boat, 11 passengers and five of the crew All were dashed to death against the rocks or drowned

Another boat was launched. It met the same fate There were about 19

LETTERS OF STOKES A SCREAM

And Graham Girl Says She Will Use Them Later

MILLIONAIRE ON STAND

Claims He Always Had a Kindly Feeling for Lillian Graham.

New York, July 8.—Where are the rest of the Stokes letters? How did they come to be suppressed? Who suppressed them and why? These are the questions that Robert W Moore, counsel for Lillian Graham and Ethel Conrad tried to get answered in their preliminary hearing on the charge that they attempted to murder W. E. D. Stokes, the millionaire hotel man, when he called at their apartments.

Stokes told how he first met Ethel Conrad; how she enlisted his sympathy anew for Lillian Graham, who, sick and penniless, Stokes said Miss Conrad told him, had attempted suicide; how he came to call on the two girls after Lillian Graham's recovery and what his sentiments for them were.

Those who had expected the two girls to take the stand were disappointed The defense succeeded in eliciting most of the facts on which the people must base their case without disclosing its own hand.

Only once did Stokes show confusion.

"Are these nine letters (produced in evidence yesterday) all you ever wrote Miss Graham?" asked Attorney Moore.

"No."

"How many did you write her? As many as 18?"

"Perhaps."

"What became of those missing letters, which you admit having written and which were in Miss Graham's possession on the night of the shooting?"

"I haven't the remotest idea," said Stokes, blandly.

Counsel for the two girls called to the stand James Cummings, a house detective at the Ansonia, owned by Stokes. Cummings said he had searched the girls' apartment two or three days after the shooting with other detectives and found the letters in a closet behind the trunk.

"These officers of the department of justice allowed you to rummage the apartment and take from it what you wished?"

"They didn't know I had found anything," parried the detective.

Mr. Moore pounced on him.

"Then you deliberately secreted these letters from the sworn officers of the law?" he thundered.

"I put them in my pocket"

"Yes or no." insisted the counsel.

"Yes" admitted Cummings.

Subsequent testimony was that Cummings had delivered the letters

NO SPECIAL SESSION OF LEGISLATURE

Columbus, July 8.—"There will be no special session of the Ohio legislature to amend the new Smith one per cent tax law, and Mayor Baehr of Cleveland may as well drop his efforts to work up sentiment for it," declared Judge Robert Dittey, chairman of the state tax commission today.

"Mayor Baehr from the very start has tried to discredit the Smith law and a man so prejudiced against it as he cannot be expected to try to make it work. I take it that Baehr wants to go back to the old method where there was but slight limitation on the spending of the people's money."

SEE TRIAL ENDED TODAY

Chicago, July 8.—The trial of Evelyn Arthur See, teacher and revealer in the cult of Absolute Life unexpectedly ended today, both sides closing. Arguments will begin Monday and probably last three days, so the case will hardly go to the jury before Thursday. See himself did not take the stand, his attorneys refusing to be responsible for the case if he subjected himself to the rigorous examination the state had in store for him.

Only two witnesses were placed on the stand in rebuttal today by the state. Mona Reese when recalled by the state proved a most damaging witness for the defense though her testimony was literally dragged from her. During the trial four women have testified that they and not See wrote the notorious Book of Truth on which hangs the case.

NEWLANDS HAS PLAN TO CONTROL INDUSTRIAL COMPANIES.

Washington, July 8—An interstate trade commission of five members to control industrial corporations as the interstate commerce commission controls the railroads is advocated in a bill introduced in the senate by Mr Newlands of Nevada Mr Newlands in a statement accompanying the bill contends that the Standard Oil and tobacco decisions and the recent report on the steel industry show the need of "an independent quasi judicial and administrative tribunal of great character and dignity as far removed from partisan control as are the courts" The bill would require all industrial corporations having receipts exceeding $5 00,000 to make satisfactory statements as to capitalization finances and operations such corporations to be known as 'United States registered' companies Lack of such registration is made an indication of something wrong"

ACTRESS MAY SEEK DIVORCE

Rumored That Ethel Barrymore Will Leave Rich Easterner

HOME TIES NEGLECTED

By Husband It Is Said Even After Baby Came---Woman in Case.

Los Angeles, Cal, July 8.—Ethel Barrymore, the actress, whose marriage to Russell Griswold Colt, a prominent and rich young Easterner, two years ago, was one of the romances involving a talented daughter of the stage and the scion of a wealthy family, is preparing to sue for divorce, her friends declare.

Miss Barrymore will neither affirm or deny. She will not even receive a newspaper reporter, but her closest friends say a legal separation is certain.

According to Miss Barrymore's friends a messenger, bearing a packet of legal papers is on his way to New York. He is to arrive there Sunday night. The suit is to be filed Monday and is to charge the only offence on which a divorce is granted in New York—infidelity. A woman's name is to be given in the complaint, it is said.

Miss Barrymore, who is playing here, has received only her closest friends and has avoided social affairs.

So anxious has Miss Barrymore been to keep her plans secret that she solicited from Klaw & Erlanger, according to report, a tour of the West so that she might be away from New York and the papers of the metropolis when the action was taken. She intends to return to New York in ample time to appear in Court.

The domestic trouble, so far as the affairs of the actress and her young husband are concerned, is said to have manifested itself to friends months ago. Colt, Miss Barrymore tells her friends, sowed wild oats extensively before his marriage. It was supposed that he would settle down after his marriage, but such was not the case, she says.

Even after the baby came to their home the young man is said to have been so neglectful and indifferent to his domestic ties as to compel action by his wife Then she planned the trip West and the first steps were taken when she arrived here.

Miss Barrymore has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Fisk of New York at the Hotel Hollywood until Wednesday Miss Barrymore and Miss Drew of her company, went befor a notary, where papers were prepared. These were then intrusted to the messenger, who is now carrying them to New York.

John Drew, Miss Barrymore's uncle, and her brother, Jack Barrymore, also an actor of note, are said to have counseled with her before she decided she must seek a decree. They approve her decisions.

Following her marriage, two years ago, Miss Barrymore retired from the stage and her home life seemed so ideal that it received considerable newspaper publicity. Then, some time after the birth of her baby she returned to the stage, and as weeks passed she and her husband drifted farther and farther apart.

New York, July 8.—The report from Los Angeles that Ethel Barrymore Colt had instituted proceedings for divorce against him was said by Russell Griswold Colt, to be "all news to him" The young millionaire was much excited over the report today. He refused to say he did not believe the report of the contemplated action. Jack Barrymore, a brother-in-law to Colt also stated that he had no information of the alleged suit.

ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING OF LICKING DEMOCRATIC CLUB

That was a splendid gathering of enthusiastic Democrats at the meeting of the Licking County Democratic club held Friday evening in the club rooms, which were crowded to the doors. It was a forcible reminder of the interest in the cause of Democracy that was so distinctly manifested by the Licking County Democratic club at all the meetings throughout the famous campaign of last year, the results of which brought such great satisfaction when the ballots were counted on the night of November 8, 1910.

The meeting was presided over by 'Squire George W Horton, Roderic Jones having charge of the secretary's table. Treasurer Frank Mercer was present and was kept busy writing out receipts for dues from members who manifest their determination that the club's future shall be made perpetual and its power for Democratic achievements promoted to the fullest extent.

Short speeches were made by nearly all the members present, and there was a unanimous sentiment expressed in the discussion of the coming municipal campaign of this city. The meaning of such a gathering of Democrats is unmistakable.

It means the party's welfare as well as the club's wholesome and beneficial influence for good in the future

GOMPERS ARRAIGNS THE BURNS AGENCY

Washington July 8—A bitter arraignment of the Burns Detective Agency and their alleged kidnaping of the McNamara brothers for alleged complicity in the dynamiting plot was made to the senate third degree investigating committee today by President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor The labor leader asserted that the only questions asked J. J McNamara by the police judge before whom he was arraigned at Indianapolis was his name The arrest, he said, was made Saturday afternoon after courts capable of issuing habeas corpus writs were closed

COSHOCTON CHEF MADE EFFORT TO KILL EMPLOYER

Chicago, Ill., July 8.—Chicago's respite from the deadly heat wave which has been mowing its citizens right and left for a week, was of short duration. The temperature on Thursday night fell below 70, reviving drooping humanity, but yesterday the humidity almost doubled and the heat ran up to the smothering point. Forecasters say that Sunday will be as fierce as any of the five deadly days of this week.

Advices from the East show that cool breezes tempered the suffering at all points, excepting a region including New Jersey, Eastern Pennsylvania and Maryland.

In Texas a five months drought was broken by soaking rains, which spread over 80 counties, doing millions of dollars' worth of good to the farmers. The Illinois State Board of Agriculture, in special report says the long heated spell has badly damaged crops in the state, some of them irreparably. Official reports show that the fruit crop of Iowa has fallen off 10 points in the last five days.

There is an ice famine at South Bend, Ind., and at Elgin, Ill., the heat has become so intolerable that all churches have been closed for the summer and services will be held on lawns and in the woods.

Some of the peculiar freaks of the intense heat are beginning to show in dispatches.

At Kewanee, Ill., a hen was driven from her task of hatching out a setting of eggs by the insufferable heat. That was ten days ago. Today 10 of the eggs hatched through the sole agency of the sun's rays. The temperature there has exceeded 100 degrees every day since the hen quit her job.

Infant mortality has become so alarming in Rockford, Ill., since the heat siege began that the Board of Health has employed a chemist to examine all mothers' milk in an effort to check the fatalities.

Advices today show that in Southern Illinois wheat has been cut down badly and that cinch bugs are appearing in corn fields in myriads. The drouth there is the worst in the history of the section

Nebraska reports destruction of the hay and oats crops by drouth. Corn in Nebraska has not yet been badly injured, but the leaves are beginnig to curl Missouri crop experts say corn is twisting badly and that oats and hay are not worth harvesting. Indiana, on the contrary,

SEIZED OPIUM WORTH $22,500

San Francisco, July 8.—One of the largest seizures of smuggled opium ever made at this port was accomplished today, when 563 five taels tins of the drug were taken by customs house officers from one of the coal bunkers of the Pacific mail steamship Siberia, which arrived from the Orient. The contraband opium is valued at about $22,500. In order to secure it 500 tons of coal were removed.

RAIN SPOILED THE GAME AND MANY PRETTY FROCKS OF THE NEWARK FANNETTES

Only Four Men Faced Pitcher Gilbert Friday Afternoon and Two Were on Bases When Elements Broke Loose—Three Hundred Expectant Lady Fans Disappointed By Heaviest Rain Storm Seen at Park This Season

Newark women are sore at the weather man. Nobody can blame them for he very unkindly interfered with their pleasure Friday afternoon when he sent a down pour of rain at Wehrle park and made it necessary to postpone the second game of the Evansville series until another date.

There is not a bit of use for the weather man to try to sidestep the issue. He was certainly guiltyof unreasonable discrimination. The rain fell in torrents at the ball park to which the 600 or more persons within the enclosure can attest. And this is the mean fact about the occurrence—within three or four blocks of the park the light sprinkle did not even lay the dust.

Some of those who attended the game, remarked coming to the city on the car, that it did not rain outside of the ball park, but that is making it a little strong. It did rain in the road at the canal bridge for the ground was quite muddy and many a pair of white shoes was ruined while the "fannettes" ran with uplifted skirts from the ball lot gate to the street car.

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS.

Evansville-Newark, (Rain.)
Ft. Wayne, 2; Wheeling, 1.
South Bend, 3; Terre Haute, 0.
Dayton, 7; Zanesville, 3.

There was an excellent turnout of the feminine beauty at this game, it being the first bargain day offering the new Central League club here has offered. It is estimated that fully three hundred women sought seats in the grand stand besides those who sat in carriages or motor cars below the bleachers.

The ladies were attired in pretty white costumes and it is with much regret that the statement must be made that many of these dresses were spoiled in their prettiness by the rain.

Jupiter Pluvius is no respector of persons and he drove the heavy down pour in sheets and chunks, the wind carrying much of the dampness into the grandstand. The roof was little protection against the elements on account of the wind.

Rain checks were issued to all who bought tickets and no one will lose by the rain man's interference but the local club. The management paid the visiting club the $50 guarantee. Saturday most of the rain checks will be turned in again at the gate and the receipts in cash will be correspondingly small. So it will cost the local club another $50 guarantee for that day.

The game had not progressed very far before rain started to fall. Evansville had just opened the first half of the first inning and four Hadley, first up, dropped a fly into batsmen had faced Pitcher Gilbert, followed with a blow to left and Callahan's glove in left field and Snyder singled to right field. Byrne Grefe hit a vicious grounder to Pendry, who fumbled it momentarily, but caught his man at first. Donavin, who hit the second home run yesterday was at the plate when Umpire Newhouse took compassion on Newark and as the rain was increasing every moment, he motioned the players to their benches.

In five minutes the ball diamond was a perfect sea of yellow water. In fifteen minutes it had reached the proportions of an over grown Pacific ocean. The oldest inhabitan of Wehrle park insists that it neve rained harder within the enclosure and after twenty minutes of inces sant precipitation of atmospheric moisture, Mister Newhouse wa seized with the idea that play woul be very disagreeable if not impossible so he notified the club manager and Aggie Grant made a rush for the box office to get his $50 guarantee.

That guarantee does not protect the ladies from having to perspire again over those pretty white frocks Such a guarantee would have bankrupted the league for there were many of those pretty costumes in the grand stand.

The local management can only apologize for not unbottling better weather for ladies day, but President George Hamilton was so fussed up over the prospects of being an entertainer on a large scale that he overlooked the weather bet.

Next time, this feature bearing on the success of the day will receive the individual attention of every director and the weather man will not be permitted to slip one over like he did yesterday.

RAIN CHECKS NOT GOOD ON SUNDAY

The directors conferred this morning with Manager Pendry and Owner Smith of the Terre Haute team and made the announcement that the rain checks issued Friday would be honored at any game this season except Sunday. This is the rule all over the league except that there is a limit on the time when the checks will be honored. The local directors however, decided to make a concession to the fans by honoring them at any game during the balance of the season. It was impossible to honor them Sunday on account of the objection of visiting clubs Each rain check must be paid for to the visiting club at the rate of 12 1-2 cents so the rain will be an expensive luxury for the Newark management

At today's game all ladies were admitted free to the grand stand to make up for their disappointment yesterday, but owing to the league rules an admission fee was necessary at the first gate. It cost the local club several dollars which would otherwise have been realized on the grandstand admissions. It is the aim of the local directors to have their patrons pleased even though it is done at a cost of many dollars to the club management

QUINLAN RELEASED.

Ft. Wayne, Ind., July 8.—Manager Roy Montgomery has quickly tied the rattle to Young Quinlan, obtained by Wheeling from the Cincinnati Reds the first of the week. Quinlan let a drive get by him in center field, and that was his finish.

REPORT SAYS SOUTH BEND IS TO TRANSFER

Grand Rapids, Mich., July 8.—Owner Bert Annis of the South Bend (Central League) Club, who was here yesterday, is said to be making arrangements to close a deal for the transfer of his team to Grand Rapids. The Grand Rapids (Central League) team was recently transferred to Newark.

MR. QUEISSER EXPLAINS TO PRES. ARMOUR

Catcher Harry Queisser made a flying trip to Columbus Friday afternoon for a conference with President Armour of the Toledo club regarding the misunderstanding which arose between Queisser and the Mud Hens' management. Queisser made a satisfactory explanation to Armour and that gentleman relinquished any claims he may have had on Queisser's services. This lifts a big load from the minds of the local management for the club could ill afford to lose the services of this excellent man.

Speaking of Queisser, his name has been pronounced a dozen different ways since his arrival in town. According to his own statement it is pronounced as though spelled "Kwizer."

NEWHOUSE HAS NEW KIND OF "WIND PAD"

Umpire Newhouse has attracted the attention and comment of the Newark fans who have seen him work at the ball games of the Evansville series, by his apparent disregard of his personal safety in not using a chest protector.

Newhouse is not that foolish. He has a protector but it is not one of those unsightly, heavy warm canvas affairs used by nearly every umpire in the business.

He wears a protector of his own invention and patent. It is made of heavy aluminum well shaped to his chest and shoulders.

A neater appearing umpire never officiated on the local grounds than Frank Newhouse. He is not encumbered by an ungainly wind pad and all he has to keep track of is his mask. When he is watching the bases from the center of the diamond, he carried the mask in his hand. He loses no time in hunting his mask or putting on his protector. He is always ready for the game to proceed.

No umpire at Wehrle park has ever done better work than Newhouse. He is active on his feet and never seems too tire to get close to the play, that he may better see just how it is made. He maintains excellent discipline on the diamond, and yet is not overbearing with the players. He occupies a position of confidence with President Carson and has full charge of all the umpires of the league.

SHORT SPORT

The Quakers are learning to take the Cardinals not only seriously, but tragically.

Joe Wood, of the Boston Red Sox came the nearest to pitching a no hit game of any big league twirler of the year. He struck out 15 Browns and didn't allow a hit until the ninth.

Red Ames actually pitched a game without giving a base on balls or weakening for a fatal inning.

Three and a half games separate the first and fifth teams in the National League.

Once more Ty Cobb failed to get a hit. After a while it will be a common thing for Cobb to miss at least one game a month without hitting safely.

Eddie Collins is ready to go back to second for the Athletics, but he will probably be saved until Mack descends upon Detroit.

Thirty-one men took part in the Pittsburg-Brooklyn grapple before the Superbas finally got the decision in the 12th

New York used to look upon the advent of the St Louis Cardinals as a season of recuperation. It's quite different now.

Bill Sweeney was the busy lad yesterday against Cincinnati with 4 hits, 3 runs and 9 chances at second.

Ed Walsh and Jack Coombs, the iron horses of the American League, never pitched better ball than they are going right now Coombs has taken part in 24 games this season and Walsh in about as many.

REFUSED TO REPORT.

Terre Haute, Ind., July 8.—Pitcher Earl Hennis, who was sold to the St. Louis (National league) club last fall and who refused to report, today signed a contract to finish the season with the local club. Hennis was the sensation of the Central lague last year and was purchased in midsummer by Roger Bresnahan.

TERRE HAUTE PLAYS HERE ON SUNDAY AFTERNOON

The Terre Haute club arrived in the city this morning over the Pennsylvania lines after an all night ride from their home town. Owner Smith came with the team and went at once with his players to the Warden. In conversation with an Advocate an at the hotel, Mr. Smith expressed his satisfaction over the excellent showing made by Newark in the holiday pool on the Fourth.

He stated that he thought from appearances that Newark would be able to make good in this league.

The Terre Haute team is here for three games. One this afternoon, one Sunday and another Monday.

Sunday's game should be a corker. Manager Pendry will select Goldrick or Gilbert for the Sunday session and either of these pitchers should give the Huts a good run.

No rain checks will be honored at tomorrow's game. The league rule is that they can not be accepted on Sunday or a holiday.

OFFICE TEAM OF HOLOPHANE CO. DEFEAT ENGINEERS

In a well played game on the Holophane field the Office team defeated the Engineers by the score of 10 to 5. It was a rattling pitchers' battle between Keleher and Trittipo, both pitchers receiving uncertain support Rolph did some good fielding for the Engineers, while Frost played strong for the office. A HAPPY HOME-COMING.

The husband who comes home from his daily toil, whether working for small or large pay must appreciate the presence of a wife well gowned and restfully awaiting him, and children equally well groomed and showing every evidence of maternal care.

A woman does not need to be a slave to drudgery, but a happy home-builder. Hewitt's Easy Task soap is of the greatest help to this blessed condition, because it lessens the labor of keeping the home and all that pertains to it clean, wholesome and attractive. No friction to such a home. Five cents a cake.

IMPROVEMENT CONTINUES

The improvement in the local iron and steel trade which began early in June, continues, although the market has been rather quiet during the past week on account of the closing down of a number of steel mills on June 30 for inventory and repairs and the closing of the general offices for the holiday. Owing to the fact that the major portion of the buying in June was for early shipment, it is not likely that the mills will be idle very long. In some instances, finishing mills will resume operations Wednesday morning, although a large percentage of the plants which are undergoing repairs will not be started until the latter part of the week. In practically all lines of finished steel, bookings and specifications in June exceeded those of April and May. The mraket on sheets is the most active branch of the trade and some companies established a new record for June.

Moderately heavy tonnage of pig iron has changed hands during the past two weeks, and several large inquiries are pending. Prices are low, but the blowing out of a number of merchant furnaces indicates that sellers will be in a position to prevent a further decline in price. The monthly average prices on basic and Bessemer as announced for June are $13.06, valley, and $15, valley, respectively. The Pressed Steel Car Co has taken an order for 1,000 steel underframes for the Northern Pacific railroad and will furnish 500 of the 1,000 steel underframes ordered by the Louisville & Nashville from 10,000 to 12,000 cars.

The blowing out of a large number of blast furnaces has resulted in standard Connellsville furnace coke for prompt shipment being offered at extremely low prices and the indications are that shipments in July will show a big falling off as compared with last month. There is slightly more new business in wire products and some mills have rejected orders for heavy tonnage of plain wire and wire nails for delivery over the remainder of the year at today's prices. Bar iron prices are firmer and sales have been made during the week at 1.30c, Pittsburg. The scrap market is exceedingly quiet. Prices show no material change. The Pure Oil Co. has placed an order with an eastern mill for 17 miles of 6 inch iron pipe, and a local mill has taken an order for 600 tons of 4 to 8 steel pipe line for shipment to West Virginia.—Pittsburg Cor. The Iron Trade Review.

Kill More Than Wild Beasts.

The number of people killed yearly by wild beasts don't approach the vast number killed by disease germs. No life is safe from their attacks. They're in air, water, dust, and even food. But grand protection is afforded by Electric Bitters, which destroy and expel these deadly disease germs from the system. That's why chills, fever and ague, all malarial and many blood diseases yield promptly to this wonderful blood purifier. Try them and enjoy the glorious health and new strength they will give you. CONCERNING MOLLIE

She Proves Herself Equal to the Occasion

By AGNES G. BROGAN

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

There was a dignified aloofness about Professor Craythorne's manner which forbade familiarity. This may have been accountable for the fact that he still remained a bachelor as the years of his thirties drew to an end. Maidens who admired his fine face and many sterling qualities retired disheartened from the field of conquest at his unapproachable demeanor, while the professor in turn regarded them, one and all, with pitying tolerance. They were pretty and amusing, no doubt, but impossible as interesting companions, while deep in his heart was a hope unconfessed that eventually he would meet one woman whose mind could follow his own down the intricate paths of learning, for he was convinced that the happiness of two people must always depend upon their sympathetic understanding. And when the professor had reached this conclusion he met Mollie. It was at an evening party given by the rector's wife, and the hostess, remembering her learned guest, introduced a historical conundrum game by way of entertainment. The professor, looking up with a thoughtful frown, met the mischievous gaze of Mollie's blue eyes.

"Got the last one?" she asked socially.

"I beg your pardon?" His tone was coldly questioning.

"I would like to copy your answer to the last question," Mollie confided. "You see, I don't know what became of those dead and gone kings, and I'm sure I do not care, but one really ought to have one correct answer among the fifteen, and you"—a flattering pause—"you know everything."

"I may be better able to solve the problem," the professor answered condescendingly, "when I shall have given it sufficient thought."

"That's right," Mollie encouraged; "don't be a quitter."

Professor Craythorne stared in astonishment at this disrespectful young person; but, quite unconscious of her offense, Mollie smiled. Moreover, Mollie has a most engaging smile, and that was the beginning. Thereafter it was the professor who appeared strangely diffident in her presence and who humbly sued for favor, while Mollie avenged her sex by ruling him with a high hand. And the habitual frown which grew upon his forehead could not wholly be attributed to study. In fact, science and philosophy alike were as the "rule of three" compared to the ways of Mollie.

Had he been fortunate enough to act as her escort upon one occasion he would be sure to see her in company with Dick Brandon the following day, while gentle kindliness upon Mollie's part was usually followed by cold indifference.

After all, the professor reflected bitterly, what chance had he to win with such a formidable rival as Dick Brandon—Dick, who was practiced in all the pleasing arts of which he was so woefully ignorant?

And when he had argued himself into the very depths of discouragement Professor Craythorne went over and proposed to Mollie. She received his avowal quietly.

"Will you mind if I do not answer you tonight?" she asked.

"Do not keep me waiting too long," he replied, and his laugh sounded boyish in its eagerness.

Mollie studied the toe of her small boot. "I will send you a message tomorrow," she said. "You will understand."

Oh, that was a long tomorrow, and when the last class had been dismissed the professor retired to his gloomy room in the university and sank wearily into a chair, his unseeing eyes gazing out over the green campus.

"A note for you, sir." A servant spoke from the doorway. He turned the tiny envelope over and over in his palm, while his heart hammered away painfully, and his strong fingers trembled as he drew forth the square white card. He was vaguely conscious of Mollie's printed name and address showing above a bold scribbled sentence, "My sympathy in your disappointment." It was some time before he could realize the cruel message. Then he remembered—she had said that he would understand.

"Any one in?" called a cheery voice, and without waiting for an invitation a young man came into the room. John Craythorne looked up impatiently.

"Good evening, Brandon," he said.

"Sorry to interrupt your meditations professor," the young man began, "but the truth is I need help."

"If you have been indulging in any of your usual pranks it will be useless for me to intercede for you again."

Young Brandon laughed: "This is—er—quite a different matter," he said. "Fact is, I want to get married. You may have noticed the approaching symptoms—most people have."

John Craythorne smiled, but his voice faltered strangely.

"Under those circumstances," he replied, "would it not be wiser to consult the young lady?"

"Oh, that part is all right," Dick answered confidently; "we've been in love with each other ever since we were kids. It's the old man who will not give an consent. He objects to my youth, instability and a few other unworthy qualities, having in mind at the same time a more desirable 'party' for his daughter. Trouble is daughter is just obedient enough to yield to his wish, though there is no doubt as to her affection for me.

"Now, the point is this—if some person who has some influence with the old fellow, whose judgment he relies upon, could suggest to him that I am not at all a bad sort, why, he would probably come around to our side. At least, that is what Mollie said when she sent me to you."

"Mollie—sent you—to me?" The words came slowly. John Craythorne's face had grown very white.

"Yes," Dick answered. "She said you'd be sure to do it for her, you two are such good friends."

The professor laughed shortly.

"He will be at home tonight," Dick remarked insinuatingly as he turned toward the door.

When he was alone again the professor turned on the electric bulb above his mirror and pitilessly examined his own tired face. He noted with a grim smile the hard lines which seemed to have formed about his mouth. He was glad that Mollie was not to be seen when he sought her home, for the sight of her winsome face would be more than he could bear in his present mood.

Her father welcomed him with his usual cordiality. The professor stood with frowning brows and briefly stated his errand.

"I come at your daughter's request," he said, "hoping that when you realize her future happiness is at stake you will not withhold your consent to her marriage with Richard Brandon."

Then while he enlarged upon Dick's few virtues and condoled his many faults the older man listened attentively.

"This is a great disappointment to me," he said at length, "and you will pardon my bluntness. I had hoped that my daughter's choice might have fallen upon yourself."

John Craythorne sighed. "I also dared to hope," he said quietly.

"Before we discuss the subject further," her father continued, "I would like to send for Mollie."

"I prefer not to be present at that discussion," the professor answered stiffly. Then he turned suddenly to face Mollie herself. After the first startled glance he resolutely avoided her eyes.

"Professor Craythorne has been interceding with me in your behalf, Mollie," her father said. "He assures me that young Brandon will make you a good husband, though I confess I regret your choice. Nevertheless your will must always be mine, my daughter."

John Craythorne waited in breathless suspense for Mollie's answer.

"Professor Craythorne," asked a meek little voice, "will you kindly tell me just why you choose to play the part of John Alden?"

He confronted her indignantly. "Dick Brandon gave me to understand that such was your wish," he replied.

Mollie's eyes widened, and then she laughed—it was an aggravating little laugh. "I did not expect you would give Dick such a good character," she said wickedly, "when you know very well he flunked last year."

A prolonged whistle sounded down the hall at this moment, and Mollie puckered up her lips to answer. Instantly the object of the conference burst into the room.

"Hello, Mollie!" he called. "That blundering man just gave me your card, and I rushed over. What's the news?"

Mollie extended her hand. "Dickie," she said, "will you let me see that card? I left two of them at the university today, one for Professor Craythorne and one for you. I am beginning to suspect that I put them into the wrong envelopes. Yes," she said, smiling over at the professor, "this one was intended for you." Then she read aloud:

"I shall expect you at 6 this evening. Do not disappoint me."

"Yours was just a word of sympathy, Dickie," she said sweetly, "written when Bettie told me that her father had refused his consent to your marriage."

John Craythorne took one hasty step in her direction, then hesitated as Mollie's father spoke sharply. "Will you please tell me what this all means?" he asked.

Mollie's eyes were dancing.

"Bettie's father thinks very highly of Professor Craythorne's opinion, and that is why I suggested that he might persuade the obstinate old man to withdraw his objections to Dick as a suitor. However"—she laughed over her shoulder—"I think I have managed it for you, Dick. You had better go over and see."

"Mollie," John Craythorne cried eagerly, but she clung to her father for a moment, ignoring the call, while the old man's face beamed with satisfaction; then she pushed him gently from her.

"Daddy," she hinted broadly, "must you really go?"

And a long time after, while the professor and Mollie still lingered in the library, she raised her glowing face to look up at her lover reproachfully. "You do not deserve such happiness," she said. "You would have married me off to another man."

"Dear," John Craythorne answered tenderly, "how dared I hope that you cared for this solemn old student, while Dick possessed those admirable qualities—youth and good looks?"

The girl touched the little crease upon his forehead caressingly. "You have qualities which Dickie will never possess," she said; then her laugh rippled merrily. "Any one but a stupid professor would see that I do not need youth or good looks," said Mollie.

Sweetly feminnine and graceful is this little get-up—the demurely crossed fichu accompanied by an equally demure bonnet of white chip trimmed with black velvet ribbon, pink roses and sprigs of purple heliotrope. The fichu is made of finely tucked lawn, shaped into a sailor collar effect at the back and trimmed with Cluny insertion, outside of which is a band of sheer batiste embroidered with dots, and another row of the Cluny lace.

Frozen Peaches. To two pounds of the whole fruit allow one pound of sugar, and one pint of water. Boil the sugar and water together for five minutes, then stand aside until cool. Peel and halve the peaches, then rub through a sieve. Add the syrup and freeze. By way of variety, a pint of cream may be added just before freezing.

Junket. One of the simplest and most healthful of desserts is junket, and it is especially refreshing when served on a hot day. To the blood warm milk add a slight sweetening and flavoring desired, and for each quart one dissolved junket tablet. Pour instantly into serving dishes and let stand untouched in a warm place until set, then put away to chill thoroughly. Now and then the dishes may first be partly filled with fruit. When served junket is to be accompanied with plain or whipped cream.

Escaped With His Life.

"Twenty-one years ago I faced an awful death," writes H. B. Martin of Port Harrelson, S. C. "Doctors said I had consumption and the dreadful cough I had looked like it, sure enough. I tried everything I could hear of for my cough and was under the treatment of the best doctor in Georgetown, S. C., for a year, but could get no relief. A friend advised me to try Dr. King's New Discovery. I did so and was completely cured, I feel that I owe my life to this great throat and lung cure." Heart and Home Talks

by Barbara Boyd

Simple Talks on Health.

Running Your Physical Machinery.

TO judge by their actions, many people have peculiar notions about their body. They live contrary to all the fundamental rules of health, dose themselves with drugs to try to keep up the balance of health and vigor, and feel aggrieved meanwhile, because they believe themselves victims of some malicious fate. They will tell you in a resigned or vindictive tone, according to their temperament, that they have a beastly cold, or suffer from dyspepsia, or nerves, and imply by their tone that this unhappy state of affairs is none of their doing. When all the time, it is the direct result of things they have done or failed to do.

The body is a machine, a wonderful and marvelous machine, it is true, but nevertheless a machine. When it gets out of order, it seems wonderfully complex. Yet it can be kept in order by quite simple means. It only asks for certain things. The queer part of it is that we do not give it these things. We fail to keep the machine in order.

Yet any man or woman of any sense or brain capacity whatever, knows that to keep a machine in order, certain things must be done. And if he has a machine of iron or steel or wood, he'll do these things to keep it in order. And the more expensive it is, the more care he will take of it. Yet when it comes to the most wonderful machine of all, he is careless of it. He seems to think it will run itself.

A machine, as every one knows, needs to be kept clean, to be lubricated, to be fed with whatever it needs in the way of fuel, to make it go. The body needs this same treatment.

It needs to be kept clean both inside and outside, and this is not only a question of washing. It means drinking plenty of water that the system may be flushed, and breathing in plenty of oxygen that impurities may be expelled.

Nobody would put on a machine oil that gums. But many a person will put into the body, food that clogs—earthy matter that clogs up the joints and arteries, and makes them hard and stiff. Nearly every one overeats and clogs the system in this way. Nearly every one eats and drinks injurious matter. Few drink enough water or breathe enough oxygen. Few keep the muscles supple by sufficient exercise. On all counts, they let the machinery of the body go wrong. The body needs coaling and cleaning the same as does a furnace. But how few do it as accurately. Then when the body goes wrong, they try to repair the mischief with drugs. Instead of getting at the root of the trouble, they continue the wrong way of living and hope to counteract the bad effects with pills. Men will smoke inordinately and take medicine for their heart. Women will sit all day in unventilated rooms, and take pills for their liver. Everybody rushes frantically and feverishly, and then take tonics for their nerves. Yet this wonderful machinery of our body would run smoothly and with power, if we would give it the few simple things it needs—fresh air, plenty of water, right food, sufficient exercise, sufficient rest. And when this machine is working as it should, life is good. But we let it get out of order, and so miss this good life, in order that we may have furniture that we do not need, in our homes, gowns that we do not wear, in our closet, and food that we cannot eat, on our tables.

WONDERFUL CURE OF SCALP DISEASE

Hair Came Out in Patches, Goodhair Soap Brought Prompt Relief.

"I have had Eczema on my scalp for twenty years. Have doctored with several doctors, but with no permanent good results. The first time I used Goodhair Soap my hair came out in patches as large as a silver half dollar. I was scared and thought I wouldn't have any hair if I continued to use the soap. I was told it was only the dead hairs that had come away. I continued to use the Soap, and now, after three months, all those bald spots are covered with a good growth. My hair is better than ever. I have no Eczema, and my scalp never itches."

Yours respectfully,
HENRY STEIFFE,
Utica, Ohio.

"I have used Goodhair Soap for the cure of dandruff and falling hair. I think it an excellent article for the purpose intended."

WOMAN'S OPPORTUNITY.

Ambitious women desirous of bettering their condition should take up Nursing as a profession. The small number of competent nurses make a constantly increasing demand for their service. Trained Nurses receive from $18.00 to $25.00 a week, some as high as $50.00, including their board.

The Rochester Nurses Institute will train any woman to be a Professional Nurse in a reasonably short time, in her own home. Readers of the Advocate can get free information and instructions by writing to the ROCHESTER NURSES INSTITUTE, 67 ROCHESTER, N. Y.

Don't throw dull care to the winds unless you are sure it is blowing away from you.

CAPTURED THE CONTRACT FOR CONCRETE WALL

Two Newark contractors lost a nice municipal job Friday by failing to comply with all the conditions necessary in submitting their bids for the work. S. Shaw, one of the bidders, failed to sign his full name and also neglected to make the necessary ten per cent deposit. Messrs. John Wagenheim & Sons failed to have the names of each person interested in the contract signed to the bid and they failed to separately itemize their bids for labor and material.

As a result of these bidders to fail to comply with the rules for submitting bids, their low propositions were both thrown out. John C. Brennan was the next low man and his bid complied in every way with all the requirements.

The job for which the bidders were contesting is a concrete retaining wall along the banks of Log Pond Run between Wallace and Ash streets, and the estimated number of cubic yards of concrete necessary to complete the work is 225. This will cost the city approximately $985.50.

The contractors who submitted bids and the amounts thereof are as follows:

Samuel Shaw	$4 25 cu yd
John Wagenheim	4 35 cu. yd.
Jno. Brennan	4 38 cu. yd.
Fred Turner	4.15 cu. yd.
A. R. Pitser	4.65 cu yd
Geo. W. Lane	4 75 cu yd.
Geo. Bock & Son	4.95 cu. yd.
Barker & Phillips	5.00 cu. yd.

STATEMENT.

Life Insurance today offers the only way in which an estate can be created by the stroke of a pen. It furnishes a protection that cannot be had in any other way.

Your attention is called especially to the certificate of compliance of the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company, of Newark, New Jersey, published in another column of this issue, showing the standing of the company at the end of its sixty-sixth business year. Its record is absolutely without blemish, and the return to its members most excellent, the company having furnished insurance protection within the sixty-six years to hundreds of thousands of families, at a profit to its members of $60,619,702.00 over and above the total premiums paid.

The Mutual Benefit is the only company giving policy holders a cash value with the payment of one premium. The fact that it is favorably looked upon is evidenced by applications for nearly $90,000,000 of new insurance, during 1910. More than $5,000,000 of this amount was written on the lives of Ohioans.

Do Your Cooking in the Cool

A hot kitchen is little better than a prison in summer. But the range is there, so all the cooking and the washing must be done there, too.

What a relief it would be to move the range where you pleased. You can do this with a New Perfection Oil Cook-stove—cook your dinner out on the porch, if you like. It is the only range that is really portable—that works equally well in any place. There are no connections to be made, as in a gas range; no wiring, as with an electric stove; no sooty flues and ash-filled grates, as with coal or wood.

The long, enameled chimneys carry the heat directly up to saucepans, oven or boiler; you get full value from your fuel, without waste.

New Perfection WICK BLUE FLAME Oil Cook-stove

Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners, with long, turquoise blue enameled chimneys. Handsomely finished throughout. The 2- and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without a cabinet top, which is fitted with drop shelves, towel racks, etc.

HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

Comfort For the Feet.

Intelligent care of the feet includes frequent changes of the hose and shoes, as well as frequent bathing. The shoes should be well aired and sunned and occasionally dried thoroughly by artificial heat, as they collect moisture and become very damp and unhealthy. To sun the shoes turn back the tops as far as possible and set the shoes where the sun will shine into them and the air reach them at the same time.

BOARDS OF REVIEW.

The people of Ohio indicated they were tired of chronic Republican office holders, when they defeated the entire state Republican ticket at the November election. A great army of Republicans who, under Republican administrations have grown old in the public service as members of city boards of review, have refused to accept the verdict of the people and are holding on to their offices with grim determination. The iniquitous political machine, which former Republican state officials built up through city boards of review appointments, would have been destroyed by Democratic state officers, but for legal battles put up by Republicans, who were removed from city boards by the Democratic state board of appraisers and assesors.

For years Republican state boards of appraisers and assessors have been removing members of city boards without stating their reasons and the right to do so was never questioned until the Democrats obtained control of the state board. The Republican supreme court has recently directed the state board of appraisers and assessors to reinstate Homer I. N. Stafford, a Republican, who was recently removed from the New Philadelphia board of review.

The people by their votes last November indicated they wanted this Republican city board of review machine destroyed. Heroic efforts are being made by Republican machine politicians to prevent its disintegration.

What with the abundant cotton crop and with the prospect of cheaper and larger supplies of woolens the problem of clothing the 90,000,000 of American people promises an early and satisfactory solution.

REPUBLICANS MUST SETTLE THEIR OWN LOCAL DIFFERENCES

A "Republican Reader" does not seem to understand why the Advocate declines to join the American-Tribune in that paper's issue for the election of Mayor of the city. But the Advocate has an issue of its own on which it has defined its line of policy for weeks, and on which it has distinctly stated it will make a campaign to a conclusion. This is a demand upon the Advocate by the business interests of Newark, by the city's good name and welfare and by the sentiments and appeals of reasoning citizens.

The Advocate has not asked the American-Tribune for assistance in the appeal it is making for a creditable Democratic candidate for Mayor. Neither will it do so. For this reason the Advocate should not be expected to abandon its own issue and plan of battle to render assitance to the A.-T. in any fight it may have within its own party.

The Advocate stated the situation plainly yesterday in its explanation that both the leading political parties will make their nominations for the office of Mayor. No action that the newspapers can take will change this regulation.

Hence the practical policy for the newspapers to pursue, in the estimation of the Advocate, is to urge such reforms as they deem proper upon the voters of their respective parties in selecting the very best men possible in making their nominations for Mayor and all other city offices.

The right of the American-Tribune to contend for what it deems to be necessary reforms will not be disputed by the Advocate. And in regard to any contention that may arise between the A.-T. and its partisans the Advocate reiterates its position that both sides must settle their differences among themselves.

If creditable candidates are nominated for Mayor and other city offices, which is the duty of the voters of the parties, then a decent campaign, including the discussion of issues, can and should be conducted from the date of the primaries to the day of election.

That President Taft never personally passed on the Cunningham-Guggenheim coal land claims in Alaska was the explanation offered by his friends to the contention that he was reversed by the decision of his new secretary of the interior in cancelling the entry. The President's friends will never be able to force the people to swallow such a story as that. It is hard to understand how the president could have excoriated L. R. Glavis, field agent; had Gifford Pinchot dismissed, and then lauded Secretary Ballinger unless he had passed on the Cunnningham-Guggenheim claims and agreed with Secretary Ballinger that they were valid.

Some Republican papers are setting up a howl because some Republican senators propose to vote with the Democratic house for piecemeal reduction of the tariff. Well, what's wrong about that? Turn about is fair play and the Democratic house certainly did a nice thing by the Republicans in pulling Mr Taft's favorite measure out of the hole.

The Game of Dreadnoughts.

There is nothing quite so costly to the nations, nor quite so stupid on the part of ruling Cabinets and Congresses, as the vast expenditure for battleships. A Dreadnought that is only sailed about on the seas as a show or a menace, that is never battered by the guns of an enemy or broken in pieces on unsuspected rocks will have outlived its seaworthiness in a few years. This year's monster will be not fit competitor for next year's monster. And yet the game goes on. The British League Annual gives the figures for Dreadnoughts which will be in commission at the end of the present year and of the third year following for the five foremost naval Powers, as follows:

	1911	1914
Britain	16	32
Germany	9	21
United States	6	12
France	6	10
Japan	2	8

Of course, the example of the larger is not lost upon the lesser Powers. The Dreadnought is arranged as follows: Russia, four laid down in 1909; Austria, two coming into commission in 1913, one in 1914, and one probably in 1915; Italy, one coming into commission next year, two in 1913, and one in 1914, all likely to be delayed; Brazil, two now in commission, and one next year; Spain, one next year, one in 1913, and one in 1915; Argentine, two likely to be delayed in coming into commission next year; and Chili and Turkey are each credited with the intention of laying down two this year.

The time seems to be approaching when it will be more economical to fight than to keep up a readiness to fight. There is some excuse for the maintenance of the British naval preponderance. It is England's sole means of defense against powerful neighbors with great armies of trained soldiers. There is no such excuse for the United States. We have a decisive advantage in that our foes must fight us from oversea bases at arm's length. The longer purse battle now going on is, in effect, a criminal waste of national resources.

CLAIMS BIG BRIBE WAS OFFERED HIM

New York, July 8—Mrs Helen E. Jenkins, the beautiful divorcee for whose friendship Nathan Allen, the Wisconsin millionaire, and John R. Collins, president of the Southern Coal company of Memphis, are said to be complicated in the smuggling of $220,000 of jewels into this country, is in high spirits today because following her statement to the federal grand jury it is intimated that she is not criminally responsible in the transaction Deputy Surveyor of the Port Parr, who prepared the evidence in the case, is also said to have told the grand jury of the alleged bribe of $300,000 offered him to drop the investigation

IN THE GARDEN.

My garden is sickly and littered with wrecks; the beans wilted quickly, and passed in their checks. The sight, it is saddish; the cabbage is dead; the onion and radish lie cold in their bed. The night zephyrs whistle o'er wreck and decay, and only the thistle is blooming today. My strenuous labors this garden has known, while indolent neighbors looked on with a groan. I said: "I'll be eating fine succulent sass, while those men are treating their stomachs to grass." They said: 'You may hoe, sir, and dig till you're sore, but we from the grocer will purchase our store." I slugged and lambasted the weeds with a hoe; my work was all wasted, and I'm full of woe. May garden is dreary as Sidon or Tyre, and oh, I am weary, while twanging my lyre! And this is the moral for others who fail to cultivate sorrel and onions and kale: A man needs some training his task to pursue, or he'll be complaining, disgusted and blue.

CONGRESS' WORK SHOWS POLITICS

Legislators Are Engaged In Making a President.

TRYING TO HELP THE PARTIES.

Factional Rows of the Republicans Do Not Tend to Improve Chances of Success—Men All Striving For Same End, Though They Differ Widely as to the Best Methods.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, July 8.—[Special.]—It is perfectly plain that the present congress, like all others preceding a presidential election, is engaged in making a president. At least the members of congress believe that they are shaping policies which will determine whether the Republicans or Democrats will win in the next campaign.

Oftentimes the congress before a presidential campaign is devoted to making candidates for the different parties. Such cannot be said at this time, for it has been quite a foregone conclusion that Taft will be renominated by the Republicans, although friends of La Follette are trying to bring him forward, and nothing that the Democrats have done thus far has been for or against any of the men mentioned as possible candidates.

It may be true that the conduct of the party in the house has greatly enhanced the chances for Speaker Champ Clark, but that was not designed with a view of accomplishing any such result, but for the benefit of the whole party.

Needs Explanation.

Perhaps the statement implying that presidential politics is being played needs explanation or qualification in view of the divisions developed in the Republican party. It is doubtful if the factional contests in the Republican party have a tendency to promote success next year, but that is not due to design by a majority of its members. For the most part they are trying to manage the party affairs so as to make for party success, but they differ widely as to methods.

Call on Cabinet Officers.

The various investigating committees of the house frequently have cabinet officers before them to tell what they know about expenditures in their departments. Most of the cabinet members do not like to be bothered in this manner, although Secretary Meyer seems to like to tell what is going on in his department. Meyer has made many business reforms in the navy and promises a large saving by abandoning useless navy yards and discarding antiquated methods, and he is perfectly willing to tell the congress all about it.

Pictures of the Court.

Congressman Slayden's room is now adorned by several pictures of members of the supreme court, including the living and dead members of that tribunal. The Texas congressman is chairman of the committee on library, which passes on art destined for the capitol. The pictures are painted by the same artist who painted the Day portrait for the state department, over which there has been an unsavory episode.

An effort is being made to have the government buy all these pictures, but it is probable that the purchase will be confined to a picture of the late Chief Justice Fuller. Pictures of all chief justices are wanted for the "robing room," the place where the justices don their black gowns.

An appropriation has been made for the picture of Chief Justice Fuller and also for placing a marble bust in the courtroom, where busts of all the distinguished men who preceded Fuller adorn the walls. Fuller's bust will make the eighth and fill the last space.

Penrose, Easy Boss.

"There goes the 'easy boss,'" remarked an employee of the senate as Penrose strode past in his usual meditative manner. As the tariff is the subject under discussion it is natural that the chairman of the finance committee should be in charge. To that extent Penrose is now the senate leader. That he gets along with as little friction as possible has won for him Tom Platt's old title of "easy boss."

Everybody knows that there is no real boss of the senate any more. When Aldrich and Hale departed the senate leadership "went into commission," as the late Senator Dolliver predicted would be the case. It is noticed, however, that Senator Crane, who comes nearer filling the Aldrich shoes than any other man, is frequently in conference with Penrose during these troublesome times.

A Casual Observation.

Insurgent senators were criticising the arbitrary action of President Taft and his insistent method of pushing the Canadian reciprocity treaty, which led a man in the press gallery to ask by way of making conversation:

"Do you suppose Cummins or La Follette would be the least arbitrary or insistent on their policies if either were president?"

"Not in the least," was the reply of another newspaper man, "unless there was opposition to them. Neither would be arbitrary except when persons disagreed with them, and they would be insistent only when they wanted something."

EFFORT TO DEFEAT ONE CENT TAX RATE

Columbus, July 8.—An army of Republican office holders, tax spenders, the crowd that has in most Ohio municipalities increased the tax rate twice as fast as the increase in population—have combined their reactionary strength to defeat the Smith 1 per cent. tax law, a measure that was designed to lift a portion of an unjust burden from owners of tangible property and to compel millionaires and capitalists to pay an equitable share of taxation.

With absolutely no limit heretofore on the amount of money they could spend; with tax payers at their mercy and unable to call a halt, officeholders—the crowd that is now trying to knock out the Smith 1 per cent tax law—recklessly squandered the people's money; poured thousands of dollars into salaries for supernumerary employes and wasted money on projects that were needless

A howl from the tax spenders was expected when they discovered the Smith law prevented the mulcting of property owners by placing a maximum tax limit on them, that is sufficient to provide for an economical administration. The loudest outcry is from the five large Ohio cities, where extravagance was greatest.

The increases in population and taxes in the five cities are:

	Increase in Population.	Increase in Taxation.
Cleveland	46.9 per ct.	92 per ct.
Cincinnati	11.5 per ct.	43 per ct.
Columbus	44.5 per ct	145 per ct
Toledo	27.8 per ct.	55 per ct.
Dayton	36.6 per ct.	42 per ct.

Such levying of tax tributes is not permissable under the 1 per cent law, and that causes the shoe to pinch.

Word has been sent out by the Republican machine that the Ohio school system will suffer under the 1 per cent. law, and a few editors of Republican papers, without taking the trouble to look up the facts, spread the false report. Findlay, Youngstown, Columbus and Woodsfield schools were reported to be cramped.

Not a single public officer in any county or municipality of the state can give an accurate estimate of how much money they will have next year. They do not know what their duplicates will be, and it will be six weeks before any one will have accurate information.

The reason is that the city boards of review must yet act on the duplicates, and their work will be better done than heretofore. The new law gives these boards authority to summon citizens and demand that they make returns on all their taxable property. This will bring out thousands of dollars. Members of the local boards can be removed from office for neglecting their legal duties.

Not a taxing district in the state knows what valuations will be placed on public utilities. The State Tax Commission appraises these, and there will be enormous increases over former valuations, because this year all such corporations must pay on a basis of 100 cents on a dollar the same as home owners and farmers. Heretofore many have paid only 5 per cent of their true property values.

The men fighting this bill are opposed to taking a step forward in taxation. They favor extravagance instead of economy and above all they do not want the property owners to have a check over them when they come to make tax levies and to spend the public money.

THE SITUATION IN WASHINGTON

The Root amendment died a natural death, but selfish insurgency continues to balk the progress of reciprocity. All of the Democrats and the regular Republicans want to vote, but Senator La Follette will not agree to fix a date, and Senator Cummins proposes to make as many speeches as his perturbed spirit may move. Meanwhile the president awaits developments with seeming content. Communications that have come to him from all parts of the country, it is announced, satisfy him that there is no real opposition to the fact among farmers, who are beginning to see advantages which at first they had been unable to descry. the exceeding temper manifested by the Republican senators from the agricultural states lends little confirmation to Mr. Taft's opinion, and, judging from what we hear from the outside and read in the papers published along the border, we suspect his sanguinity would suffer a severe shock if a vote could be had. However, since Senator Penrose frankly gives up the ship, there is every reason to believe that the bill will pass by a substantial though grievously disgruntled majority when the time comes. Incidentally there is much speculation in the senate debates respecting the president's attitude toward the free list and wool revision bills. It seems to be generally conceded that he would veto both on the specious plea that nothing should be done till a report has been received from the wonderful Tariff Board, but as a matter of fact, nobody professes to know what he would do. So there the matter hangs and is likely to hang till the summer heat shall melt the obduracy of the squirming insurgents. Let 'em sweat, say we.—Harper's Weekly.

ICE FAMINE AT SPRINGFIELD, O., BECOMES SERIOUS

Springfield, O., July 8.—The ice famine here has developed into a serious situation. Dealers are refusing to deliver to customers, hoping that by so doing they will have a large enough supply on hand today to deliver for Sunday use. Butchers are the only persons who can secure the frozen luxury, although other people can obtain small pieces on doctor's prescriptions. Many of the ice cream parlors are practically shut down.

It doesn't pay to be too busy to enjoy the fruits of your labor.

LABOR NEWS

All delegates to the Newark Trades and Labor Assembly are requested to be present at the meeting to be held on Sunday morning at 9 o'clock in Labor Hall. This will be the first meeting in July, and there will be considerable business of importance to transact, among which will be the installation of the officers elect.

The members of the General Labor Day committee have been working like beavers and will make a good report. There is much work, however, yet to be done, for it is a great undertaking the committee has entered upon, as they propose making arrangements for the biggest Labor Day celebration ever held in Central Ohio.

The meeting of June 25 was a hummer. The committees on Labor Day and Hall made good reports which were received and filed. The Assembly resolved to remain in the hall another year and instructed the trustees to lease the hall. All local unions are invited to remain with the Assembly in the use of the hall.

Brothers Roll, Evans and Butler were appointed an auditing committee to report at the next meeting, July 9.

The Labor Day committee has appointed the following sub-committees:

Amusement committee—Jos. Nold, chairman; W. A. Archer, secretary; Louis Carter, Fred Lengweiler and W. Donahue.

Music committee—Wm. M. Morgan, chairman.

Dance committee—Gail Smart, chairman.

The next meeting of the Labor Day committee will be held on Tuesday, July 11, in the office of the clerk of the City Council.

ECZEMA

(Also Called Tetter, Salt Rheum, Pruritus, Milk-Crust, Weeping Skin, etc.)
ECZEMA CAN BE CURED TO STAY,

and when I say cured, I mean just what I say—C-U-R-E-D, and not merely patched up for awhile, to return worse than before. Remember I make this broad statement after putting ten years of my time on this one disease and handling in the mean-time a quarter of a million cases of this dreadful disease. Now, I do not care what all you have used, nor how many doctors have told you that you could not be cured—all I ask is just a chance to show you that I know what I am talking about. If you will write me TODAY, I will send you a FREE TRIAL of my mild, soothing, guaranteed cure that will convince you more in a day than I or anyone else could in a month's time. If you are disgusted and discouraged, I dare you to give me a chance to prove my claims. By writing me to-day you will enjoy more real comfort than you had ever thought this world holds for you. Just try it and you will see I am telling you the truth.

OBITUARY

MRS. KATHERINE McCLOUD

Mrs. Katherine McCloud, one of the oldest and most highly esteemed of the pioneer women of Newark, died at her home, 61 Granville street about noon Saturday, after an illness of some time with the ailments peculiar to advanced age, she being in the 93d year of her life. She had been a resident of Newark for more than forty years, and was the widow of William McCloud, a prominent citizen of Newark 25 years ago. She was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church, and has been connected with the church for many years. She is survived by one brother, Matthew Stotler, who made his home with her. The body will be taken to Martinsburg, after short funeral services held at her late home Monday morning, and the interment will be made in the Martinsburg cemetery.

MRS. CYRUS PITZER.

Mrs. Pitzer, wife of Mr. Cyrus Pitzer, a well known resident of Licking County, died at her home four miles south of the city, very suddenly on Friday evening about six o'clock. Mrs. Pitzer, who, apparently was in the enjoyment of her usual good health, was up and around all day Friday, and even went out into the harvest field where the men were at work. In the evening she said that she was not feeling very well, and went into the sitting room where she lay down on a sofa. Some time after one of the inmates of the house went into the room and called here, but received no response, and an examination showed that she was dead. She is survived by her husband, who has the sympathy of all her friends in his affliction. The funeral will be held at the house on Monday morning at 10 o'clock, and the interment will be made in Cedar Hill cemetery.

FUNERAL OF A. I. FITZSIMMONS.

The body of the late A. I. Fitzsimmons arrived here on the 6:50 o'clock Baltimore & Ohio train Friday evening, and was taken to the residence of his brother, James Fitzsimmnos, on Canal street, between Second and First streets, from which place the funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The interemnt was made in Cedar Hill cemetery.

GRANVILLE

Granville, July 8.—The Methodist church which has been undergoing repairs for some weeks, will be reopened on Sunday, and there will be special services throughout the day. In the morning Prof. B. L. McElroy of Delaware, a former pastor of the church, will preach, and in the evening Dr. Herbert Scott, superintendent of the Columbus district, will occupy the pulpit. Dr. A. H. Norcross, superintendent of this district, will also be present at both services. All other services will be held as usual. During the time the repairs have been making on the church the services have been held in the Town hall.

Mayor Barnes' orders that all dogs be muzzled or kept confined is being rigidly enforced. Scarcely a dog is seen nowadays on the streets of Granville.

Many Granville people are now planning for a safe and sane vacation, and inside the next two or three weeks, quite a number of our people will hie themselves away to the mountain or lake resorts. One should not exchange the comforts and conveniences of the home, hardly acquired, for the primitive hardships of pioneer life. If one must go afar, see that the chosen spot for the vacation affords at least coolness, comfort and sanitation. When one is tired and worn out after a year on life's treadmill, change and rest are good, but one is not in a condition to resist the attacks of fevers and other diseases if his haunts are invaded.

Oriel Lines spent the Fourth at his old home in Etna.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank K. Harris of Columbus, who have been making a short visit with friends in the village, returned home Friday.

Saturday, notwithstanding that this is a very busy season with the farmers, found a goodly number of country folks in town, who came in to do their week's trading. The corn has all been worked over and is looking fine, the wheat has been cut and considerable threshing has also been done. There are still some fields of hay that have not been cut but by the first of the week the farmers in this section will have much of their summer work completed and can begin looking forward to the big profits.

There will be regular services at St. Luke's Episcopal church Sunday morning, although there will be no services in the evening. Rev. A. Ramsey, the pastor of the church, will occupy the pulpit in the morning and the subject of his sermon will be, "Sins of the Soul and their Remedy." Sunday school will be held at 11 o'clock a. m.

Misses Maggie Johnson and Mary Love, who have been visiting relatives here for some time, returned to their home Saturday.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

How Firewater Pulled the Plug Of the Bathtub

This Dog Knows About Modern Improvements

"I'VE told you lots of stories," began daddy as the fireflies danced outside the children's bedroom window screen like a small target procession, "about smart country dogs, but tonight I'm going to tell you one about a very, very smart little city dog—so little, in fact, that he is hardly more than a puppy."

"Splendid!" said Jack and Evelyn in chorus. "What's his name, please?"

"Firewater," answered daddy. "His master, Mr. Waltmack, says he calls him that because for the first few months he owned him he could never quite make up his mind whether to simply fire him or throw him in the river. But now you couldn't get Firewater away from him for enough money to keep you two in candy for the rest of your lives."

"Oh, oh, oh, daddy!" piped the children. "What did the doggie do? Tell us quick, please!"

"Well," began daddy, "Firewater was always crazy about his daily bath. When he would hear the water running in Mr. Waltmack's porcelain bathtub he would even leave a nice bone to rush to the bathroom so as to be sharp on hand when his master was ready.

"One evening when the tub was being filled an unexpected visitor came, and Mr. Waltmack took so long to treat his friend kindly that the water came near to overflowing.

"Firewater, who was on his appointed chair, noticed this and barked loudly, but his master and his visitor were so busy in treating each other kindly that they didn't hear him.

"So Firewater became a hero. He had watched his master pull the plug so often that he knew just what to do, and he did it, although, mind you, he didn't know much about swimming. He just plunged in, got the plug chain in his teeth, pulled until the plug came out and then managed to keep swimming until the water got low enough to let him rest his little legs on the bottom of the tub.

"When Mr. Waltmack finally came dashing upstairs he found the tub empty and little Firewater still in it, polishing up its sides with his tongue in an attempt to imitate the chambermaid with her cleaning cloth."

"Oh, that's the very nicest dog yet!" said Evelyn.

"I wonder how much he'd cost," mused practical Jack. "I've got $1.15 saved up for a baseball suit."

"That's a lot of money," said daddy. "I'll ask Mr. Waltmack about it some Friday."

CONSERVATION OF MEN.

More persons die from preventable tuberculosis in a year than all who died in the civil war. It is time for action. If every man in our army and navy should be wiped out by disease in one year it would attract some attention, would it not? At no time in the history of the world has the life of the people been so imperiled. That our race is materially deteriorating is proved by the difficulty of obtaining recruits for the army, the navy and the military schools, both here and abroad, that are up to the physical standard.—Dr. L. L. Seaman.

HOTEL BEDS ABROAD.

To Get Into Some of Them One Has to Use a Stepladder.

The European bed always strikes the uninitiated American traveler as a huge joke. In France they commence to impress him with their height and narrowness, and he looks dubiously at the enormous Turkey red cotton "couvre pied" of elderdown, which seems something like a mountain, and he wonders how he is ever going to bear all that extra weight on his person. But when he has slipped between the sheets and the grateful warmth communicates itself to his cold bones—if it is winter they are sure to be like icicles—he discovers that it is deceptively light and deliciously comfortable.

In Switzerland the beds attain a little more height, but it is in Germany that they become of such an altitude as to necessitate a pair of steps to mount them. One tourist, finding that one leg of the stepladder was broken, solved his difficulty by going to the extreme end of the room, taking a running start and landing with a flying leap in the midst of the Turkey red elderdown. He crawled in under the crocheted counterpane and was soon fast asleep. Some time in the night he became sleepily aware of a consuming thirst and started to get out of bed for a drink. A startled shriek, followed by some swear words that even the thick headed German watchman understood, penetrated to the remotest chamber in the inn.

"I was half awake," he explained afterward, "and had been dreaming of standing on Table rock, in the Yosemite. I started to get out of bed—and began to fall. Naturally I supposed I was plunging to the bottom of that precipice, and I'll leave it to you if any one wouldn't have let out a yell when he thought he was going to be dashed to death."

Sometimes in European hotels the tourist is taken solemnly to one side and told that by paying a few francs or lire more he can have the royal bedchamber. A certain hotel in Sorrento, where a dozen or more royal heads have lain in one season, is even more generous, for if the rooms are empty they make no extra charge. And the traveler loves to recount when he is back on his native heath how his cheek pressed the same pillow that had been used by the little queen of Holland or the king of Saxony.—New York Tribune.

BALANCING THE SEXES.

Singular, Isn't It, the Way Nature Preserves the Equilibrium?

One of the most subtle and interesting problems of life, according to the eminent statistician and student of heredity, Professor R. J. Ewart, is the numerical relationship of sex and its influence upon the body politic. The woman's rights movement is in essence a mathematical and statistical problem, according to him. There is not a general advance of woman, as some sociologists assert. There is a sudden manifestation of her power, a period of supremacy and then a decline of her status.

The explanation is statistical mainly. True, it has always been something of a puzzle why the proportion of each kind, apparently with little or no underlying reason, is produced in the right numbers. The argument that if such were not the case the particular species would not survive does not reveal to us the methods by which this object has been achieved. That some mechanism must exist by means of which within certain limits the number of males and females born is regulated is proved by the facts of history, where we have numerous examples of wars and other social upheavals where males have largely suffered, and yet within an apparently short period of time, as measured by such events, a balance has again been established.

The sex equilibrium may be compared to that of a gyroscope, where the greater the disturbance of position the greater is the force tending to re-establish its natural stand while in motion.—Current Literature.

She Had Noticed.
He was talking to the pessimistic, sharp tongued damsel.

"Have you noticed," he asked, "that, as a rule, bachelors are wealthier than married men?"

"I have," she replied.

"How do you account for it?" he inquired.

"The poor man marries and the rich one doesn't," she answered. "A man is much more disposed to divide nothing with a woman than he is to divide something, you know."

Maine's First Hotel.
Maine's first public hotel was built in 1654. Waddock's Ordinary, erected near Old Orchard, according to a Saco historian, is entitled to the distinction. The old tavern was erected by Henry Waddock and stood almost within sight of the large summer hostelries which fringe the crescent shaped beach at Old Orchard.—Kennebec Journal.

The Doctor's Boy.
"Mamma, the doctor's boy next door made faces at me."

"And what did you do?"

"I stuck out my tongue at him."

"Dear, dear! And what did the bad boy do then?"

"He just said it was badly coated."

A MOTHER'S DUTY

It is the duty of every expectant mother to prepare her system for the coming of her little one; to avoid as far as possible the suffering of such occasions, and endeavor to pass through the crisis with her health and strength unimpaired. This she may do through the use of Mother's Friend, a remedy that has been so long in use, and accomplished so much good, that it is in no sense an experiment, but a preparation which always produces the best results. It is for exernal application and so penetrating in its nature as to thoroughly lubricate every muscle, nerve and tendon involved during the period before baby comes. It aids nature by expanding the skin and tissues, relieves tenderness and soreness, and perfectly prepares the system for natural and safe motherhood. Mother's Friend has been used and endorsed by thousands of mothers, and its use will prove a comfort and a benefit to any woman in need of such a remedy. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for free book for expectant mothers, which contains much valuable information.

RAILWAY AFFAIRS.

To Cut Down the Running Time.

The following from a Cleveland paper is of local interest in local railroad and business circles:

In railroad construction now in progress from Akron to Youngstown, Cleveland railroad men see the working out of a gigantic plan by the New York Central to create a new chain of roads from New York to Chicago, to cut down running time between those cities four hours and to make still more heated the competition between it and the Pennsylvania system for New York to Chicago business.

The reports recently circulated to the effect that the Erie was to authorize the purchase of new equipment have been authenticated, and the directors have now definitely decided to spend $6,900,000 for new cars, engines and general equipment.

Water bulletins are being issued by a number of railroads urging the greatest economy in the use of water and to avoid any waste whatever. At several points along the roads where water has been regularly procured, the supply has given out and some difficulty is being experienced.

The new law in the state of Illinois prohibiting the use of public drinking cups has caused special bulletins to be issued to trains. The cups must not be used on trains running through that state in the future.

Chicago's milk famine now is almost a reality. Pastures are burned up and the supply is dwindling every day. Outsiders can hardly realize the extent of this calamity, which means suffering and death for thousands of babies and invalids, whose existence depends solely upon a plentiful supply of fresh milk.

New York, July 8.—Many of the lives lost during the present hot wave could have been saved had the churches been alive to their duty to the inmates of the tenements, according to Lady Johnstone, wife of the British minister to the Hague. Highly indignant over what she terms the lack of interest in the poor by the richest churches, Lady Johnstone said today she is taking steps to have the various ministerial bodies in the United States aroused. She wants the churches thrown open to the public for use during the torrid spell. By doing so, she says, the residents of the tenements would have cool places to sleep and women and babies especially would be spared great suffering and many lives would be saved.

Lady Johnstone is the sister of Gifford Pinchot and is in America because of the serious illness of her mother, Mrs. J. W. Pinchot. "I got the idea of using the churches for the poor in hot weather from the custom in Copenhagen, Denmark, of using them in winter to protect the destitute from the cold," said Lady Johnstone. "It seems to me that if the edifices were adaptable for the one use they would be for the other.

"Reading over the appalling death list as the result of this last hot wave suggested that if the churches everywhere opened up for the poor, many lives might have been saved.

"Instead of sleeping in unventilated, low-ceiling, stuffy bedrooms with not a breath of air in the tenement district, the families might have been enjoying air and rest in a nearby church. The church may be cleaned every morning at a nominal cost."

ICE FAMINE AT CINCINNATI.

FREE TO YOU—MY SISTER

Free to You and Every Sister Suffering from Woman's Ailments.

I am a woman.
I know woman's sufferings.
I have found the cure.
I will mail, free of any charge, my home treatment with full instructions to any sufferer from woman's ailments. I want to tell all women about this cure—you, my reader, for yourself, your daughter, your mother, or your sister. I want to tell you how to cure yourselves at home without the help of a doctor. Men cannot understand women's sufferings. What we women know from experience, we know better than any doctor. I know that my home treatment is safe and sure cure for Leucorrhoea or Whitish discharges, Ulceration, Displacement or Falling of the Womb, Profuse, Scanty or Painful Periods, Uterine or Ovarian Tumors, or Growths; also pains in head, back and bowels, bearing down feelings, nervousness, creeping feeling up the spine, melancholy, desire to cry, hot flashes, weariness, kidney, and bladder troubles where caused by weaknesses peculiar to our sex.

I want to send you a complete ten day's treatment entirely free to prove to you that you can cure yourself at home, easily, quickly and surely. Remember, that it will cost you nothing to give the treatment a complete trial; and if you wish to continue, it will cost you only about 12 cents a week or less than two cents a day. It will not interfere with your work or occupation. Just send me your name and address, tell me how you suffer if you wish, and I will send you the treatment for your case, entirely free, in plain wrapper, by return mail. I will also send you free of cost, my book—"WOMAN'S OWN MEDICAL ADVISER" with explanatory illustrations showing why women suffer, and how they can easily cure themselves at home. Every woman should have it, and learn to think for herself. Then when the doctor says—"You must have an operation," you can decide for yourself. Thousands of women have cured themselves with my home remedy. It cures all old or young. FIRST YEAR UNDER THE DES MOINES PLAN.

How Commission Government Saved For the Iowa City.

Secretary Geis Rotsford of the Commercial Club of Des Moines is authority for the following:

April 1, 1908, city government under old plan lacked $119,200 of enough to pay the obligations of the year preceding. On April 1, 1909, there was a balance in the city treasury over actual cost of running the town in the year of $104,855. This was the first year under the commission plan. Mind you, this was done with a commission of five men, four of whom had held offices of mayor, assessor, councilman and municipal judge under the old system. Was it a case of the plan or of the man?

Just a case of doing away with the ward apportionment and the strife of the ward alderman to get all he could for his immediate constituents without reference to cost to the balance of the city.

These results were brought about in a way as follows: New lighting contract that saved $5,549 to the city secured it a gain of 1,818 hours per lamp per year on 603 lamps; gross saving to city, $10,332.

Mr. Ash of the park department, by the application of business methods and with the incentive the plan affords for individual record, kept our parks up as they had never been kept before and made improvements far in advance of those of any single previous year and saved a little over $8,000 in his department in one year.

The change in the bookkeeping system and the application of civil service and business methods reduced the clerical charges at the city hall $2,100, and the standard of efficiency went up to such a degree that promptly at the end of the year an annual report was issued, the first annual report of the city of Des Moines, and this in a city fifty-seven years old!

The cost of creosoted block paving on concrete base was reduced in the first year from an average of $4.47 per square yard to $4.09.

The last year under the old plan saw 2,272 catch basins cleaned at a cost of $1.40 each. The first year under the new plan saw 3,861 catch basins cleaned at a cost of $1.12 each.

Under the old plan concrete culverts cost the city $17.61 per cubic foot each. Under the new plan they cost $12.63 each.

Under the new plan the police force was actually increased and the efficiency bettered to the extent that public gambling, the red light and street walking were actually abolished, the excise laws strictly enforced, and the cost was a little over $8,000 less than during the last year under the old plan.

The saving was $1,400 in the health department, with increased efficiency.

For the first time the city funds in bank drew interest of 4 per cent on time deposits and 2 per cent on average daily balances, and from this source the city received $9,132.17.

Under the new plan the street cleaning area was more than doubled, and for the first time this department has flushed and cleaned alleys, and there has been no increase in expenditures on this account.

Uniform paving, sidewalk and other specifications have been adopted.

The tax levy has been reduced 3 mills in the face of this.

ONE CITY'S REDEMPTION.

Capital of Iowa Happy Under New Form of Government.

Des Moines is navigating under the commission form of government, whereby five men are in complete control of the affairs of the town. One of the five acts as mayor. The other four do the chores. If the citizens wish to do something special they can employ the initintive and secure it by referendum vote. If the commissioners or any one of them fails to measure up to his job they or he can be dismissed by a recall vote of the city. The system of selection gives the public every possible chance to get its men in and by the same token gives every man with ambition an opening against the field. Any one who can muster five names to a petition can get his name on the primary ticket. Last year sixty-two citizens entered the fight. The ten who receive the highest number of votes get the nominations, and the five of these receiving the highest vote at the election get the jobs. There are no wards, no precincts, no political parties involved. All lines and limits are abolished. The economic results have been excellent, but to the observer the chief value of the scheme rests in its tendency to arouse and interest the citizen, for, after all, it is the voter who needs reform much more than the politician. His apathy, indifference and neglect are the basic causes of bad government wherever it exists. In Des Moines the belief is that the government is brought closer to the people than by anything ever tried before and that the popular will comes pretty near being honestly obeyed. The mayor is paid $3,500 a year, and the four others receive $3,000 each.

Just as Indianapolis people ask strangers, "Have you seen the monument?" Des Moines folks say, "What do you think of our commission government?" They are ecstatic about it. Departing visitors are given copies of the plan as souvenirs.

LODGE NEWS

PYTHIAN SISTERS.

Alberta Temple No. 355, Pythian Sisters, convened in regular session on Wednesday evening July 5th, while the weather was very warm, we had a very good attendance. Under the head of new business the following officers being elected were installed in the following form.

P. E. C. Miss Carrie Schnaidt; M. E. C. Miss Dora Schnaidt, M. E. S. Mrs. Lulu Schoenlein; M. E. J. Mrs. Florence Long; M. of T. Mrs. Katy Johns; P. of T. Mrs. Anna Devore; Mrs. Edith Smith; M. of R. and C. Mrs. Bessie Cramer; M. of F. Mrs. Anna Schnaidt; trustees, Mrs. Marjory Lake, Mrs. William Hill, Mrs. Margaret Long.

Mrs. Eleanor Hughes was appointed as installing officer and was assisted by Mrs. Allie Tedrick and Mrs. Maud Rian, and the officers were installed in a very creditable manner.

Sister Henry made her report as representative of the last session of the grand lodge, held at Hamilton, Ohio, for which she received a rousing vote of thanks, her report being complete in every particular. After the meeting all repaired to the Sparta, where refreshments were served and the ladies entertained royally by the Captain of Degree staff, Bro. Eugene Wolinskey.

On next Thursday night the officers of Johnstown lodge Knights of Pythias, will be installed at the castle hall. The installation will not be public. A light luncheon will be served. District Deputy Grand Chancellor H. E. Lake will be in charge of the installation cermonies.

Jr. O. U. A. M.

Licking Council No. 90, Jr. O. U. A. M., met in due form in their new hall on the corner of Williams and Main streets with the Brother Council from Dennison, Ohio, presiding throughout the initiations.

The following candidates only were initiated out of a class of 35: Messrs. Harry A. Bailey, Dr. P. H. Cosner, C. K. Patterson, Walter Freas, Joe R. Moser, W. Moser, Ross Van Voorhis, Parker Wolf, Chas. Gregg, E. D. Livingston, W. Guimon, D. Van Voorhis, Hal Simpson, and Howard Schimmel. The Crack Degree Team from Dennison was given the "Key to the City" and a warm hearty welcome by all the brother members of Licking Council No. 90 as well as their suppers, after which they were escorted to the Lodge hall where they began their preparations for the work on hand for the evening. The goat was at his best as he was given a good dinner corn and tomato cans with a small portion of cut glass as an aid to digestion which Dr. Cosner heartily prescribed.

The Daughters of America were handicapped with six new members in their drill team, but as it was the best drill seen in Newark for quite a long time, of its kind, and the assistance that the Daughters of America rendered to their brother order was highly commendable. The supper that the Daughters of America prepared was highly commendable, and several visitors made the remark that "it can't be beat."

State Councillor, Brother W. A. Clark arrived early in the afternoon, but owing to a pressing engagement at Cleveland to institute a new council in that city he had to cut his visit short here in Newark and rendered the dedication address in the afternoon, and after expressing his regret at not being able to stay in Newark longer with us he left with the good wishes of the Junior Mechanics and Daughters of America in Newark.

The hall was very cleverly decorated with flags for this occasion by the Daughters of America.

We could not hold an open meeign as we had hoped to do on account of the initiations, but intend to hold one real soon, as we realize that the citizens of Newark would like to know of this grand all American order.

The O. M. A. (Oriental degree) will be conferred upon several of last night's candidates about the second week in July, and all O. M. A. men in the Juniors are requested to be present at the next regular meeting for instructions in the degree work.

After the regular initiatory work was over the brothers, sisters and their guests were delightfully entertained with a dance, to try out the new floor.

Daughters of America.

Banner Council No. 101, Daughters of America, will meet Tuesday evening, July 11, in their new hall, corner of West Main and Williams streets for the installation of officers. All members are urged to be present by order of committee.

D. O. K. K.

Members of the Koolah temple No. 101 will meet Tuesday evening after Roland lodge meeting. Matters of importance.

MACCABEES.

Octagon Tent 132 K. O. T. M. met in called review Wednesday night. Sir Knights, watch the papers for any announcements in regard to any extra meetings as it may be necessary to call a review before our next regular review which is arraigned for Wednesday night, July 19.

Plans are being arranged for holding reviews every week and it is proposed that soon after this that the office on Saturday night will be discontinued.

A number of the cash and free transportation coupons have been received and will be delivered by the R. K. in a few days.

This means that a number of the boys are going to Cleveland at the time of the Supreme Tent review. Sir Knights, when we are properly settled in our new hall (The Mayflower) we will show you what the K. O. T. M. work is like when properly carried out in its every detail.

NEWS OF THE GLASSWORKERS

The Glassworker of this week, notwithstanding that many factories throughout the country have closed down during the past week, and that things generally are very quiet in glass circles, contains much that will interest the glassworker. Following are some of the items of interest found in the paper:

The old Marietta glass factory at Gas City, Ind., has been purchased by A. H. Coyne and O. Gordon and the large furnace stack torn down.

The Federated Glass Co., Point Marion, Pa., are operating their window factory steadily with a full complement of men on the roster.

The Haskins Glass Co. plant, at Martin's Ferry, O., closed down on June 30 for two weeks. The cutting department is being kept in operation.

The Bellaire bottle works, Bellaire, Ohio, has shut down in all departments. Machine made bottles will be turned out by the company beginnig July 19.

Extensive repairs are being made at the McKee Glass Co. factory, at Jeanette, Pa., and a comparatively large production is being made by the department in operation.

The Imperial and Rodefer plants, Bellaire, O., ceased operations last Saturday for the summer stop. During the suspension extensive repairs are being made at both factories.

The machine tanks at the Fidelity Co. factory, Tarentum, Pa., are being operated this month and will likely continue in blast until August 1, when a two weeks' stop will be made.

The Wightman plant of the American Window Glass Co., Monogahela, Pa., closed down June 30. The tank is being rebuilt, which will require about six weeks time.

It is understood that the Cape May Glass Co., Cape May, C. H., N. J., will rebuild their plant, which was destroyed by fire some time ago, but it will hardly be ready for operation at the beginning of next blast.

All the hollow ware plants at Bridgeton, N. J., are now idle. The season has been a very good one and prospects for an early start are encouraging.

At Charlerol, Pa., the Imperial Glass Co. closed down on June 30, after nine months work. The flint tank will be operated with four Johnny Bull machines and one side-lever machine.

According to recent western advices the town of Okmulgee, Okla., has closed a contract with the Lagootee Glass Co., Lagootee, Ind., for the erection of a factory to manufacture bottles.

The Spring City Glass Works, at Spring City, Pa., closed down on June 30, ending a most successful season. Work on the furnace will be started at once in order to resume September 1.

It is the intention of the Kervin Glass Co., Eldred, Pa., to continue operations as long as the tank holds out, which will probably be until August.

The Fort Pott factory of the Pittsburg Lamp, Brass & Glass Co., at Jeanette, Pa., after a successful run shut down last Saturday. A number of repairs will be made during the stop.

The shut down at the Cambridge Glass Co. plant, Cambridge O., will likely be of two weeks duration and the management expect to resume on time at the end of the stop.

Two trustees for the creditors of the Millersburg Glass Co., Millersburg, O., were appointed recently. The appraisement will be made and confirmed and an order of sale issued.

The Tuna Glass Co. window factory, Clarksburg, W. Va., ceased operations on July 1 for the summer shut down after a successful season.

Reports from Massillon, O., state that the tanks at the Pocock plant of the American Bottle Co. and also at the Rhodes Glass Co.'s factory.

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

The Frances Willard Chapter of the W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. Harry Butt, 155 Linden avenue, July 5. The exercises were held on the broad veranda overlooking the beautiful Sharon Valley. Although the weather was exceedinly warm the ladies seemed to vie with the thermometer. As it was a Mothers' meeting many beautiful papers were read, all having an upward trend.

STOKES

to a Mr. Gleason, personal counsel for Stokes, who had passed them on to former Judge Olcott, in charge of the case for Mr. Stokes, who in turn delievered them to the district attorney's office.

Cummings, the detective, had not counted the letters he swore, and did not know their contents. Judge Olcott swore that the package, as it reached him, contained 12 letters.

"There were 18 of those letters," said Mr. Moore, after the hearing. "Who suppressed them?"

"They will make interesting reading when they are produced," added Miss Graham. "I wouldn't dare tell you what's in them. You wouldn't believe me, but when I get out of this trouble, I'm going to use them. They're a scream."

The pretty young defendants were dressed alike today in striking gowns of white serge, trimmed with satin, Stokes wore sombre black and carried a boat shaped straw hat of the coolie fashion.

Mr. Stokes told of a visit made to his office on May 21 last by Miss Conrad which was the first time the letters were brought to his notice. She came into his office, he said, highly excited and unable to speak for some time.

"When she became calmed," Stokes continued, "she told me she had been out to dinner the night before. She met Miss Graham, she said, at dinner, and the young lady was in distressed circumstances, with little money, and no clothes, and that she had taken her home to her rooms. 'When I went out this morning to business,' Miss Conrad said, 'I left Miss Graham in bed after me. I forgot my pencil and returned for it. When I got into the room I was shocked to find a note on the table together with a bundle of letters the note saying Miss Graham had committed suicide and she had adressed the letters to the press.

"Miss Conrad also told me," continued Stokes, "that some of the letters were mine and some belonged to other men. She said she rushed into the bedroom and found Miss Graham in bed, her face blistered and burned where she had spilled carbolic acid. A doctor was called and pumped her out, Miss Conrad said, and saved her life."

Miss Conrad, according to Stokes, began to narrate her family history. She was, according to this narrative, the daughter of a Russian prince, who met her mother in Louisville and eloped with her, Miss Conrad being born in Bluefields, Venezuela, where her father was killed in a riot.

Losses of one kind or another reduced the widow's property from $200,000 to $20,000, which latter sum she collected in New York on insurance. This $20,000 Stokes said Miss Conrad told him, was squandered by a man her mother married. The daughter then had to go to work.

"She said," the witness continued "she had come to see me on her lawyer's advice to tell me about the letters she had found on the table with the suicide note."

"I told Miss Conrad that Miss Graham was an undesirable woman," testified Stokes, "and that I would not give Miss Graham one cent, but I said I would give Miss Conrad money for the nurse to look after Miss Graham. Miss Conrad wanted me to sign a note for $200 to allow Miss Graham to go abroad. I said I would not. I would give no agreement, because I thought Miss Graham was a dangerous woman."

Stokes said he offered to draw a check for $200 to enable Miss Graham to get to Belgium to join her sister, whereupon he continued

"Miss Conrad said, 'Oh no, don't draw a check, there might be some scandal about it. Give me the cash.' I said 'all right' and gave her the money."

The defendant's attorney questioned Mr. Stokes regarding Miss Graham's visit to his farm at Lexington, Ky. The defense had contended that the girl expected to find other guests with Stokes and when she discovered that she was visiting him alone she left the following morning.

"Didn't she leave because you tried to insult her?" Stokes was asked.

He was not allowed to answer this question, but he replied that she remained at the farm about three days. His attorney read the letter of invitation in which Miss Graham's sister was asked to visit Stokes at the same time.

"But you did entertain so-called fatherly affection for Miss Graham, didn't you?" asked the girl's attorney.

"I did feel kindly toward her," replied Stokes, turning to smile at the two young women.

"What were your intentions toward her?"

"To be polite to her."

The prosecution closed its case with the examination of a policeman, who first reached the house after the shooting. He said the girls told him that each of them had shot Stokes.

RECEIVES ACCOUNT OF FRIENDS FLIGHT IN WRIGHT MACHINE

Warren Brown of the Elks' club has received a clipping from the Battle Creek, Mich., Moon, giving an account of the recent flights in that city of Aviator L. W. Bonney, one of the Wright Brothers new fliers, who it is predicted will prove one of the most expert aerial craftsmen in the United States. At Battle Creek Bonney's engine went "dead" on him while at an altitude of 1,000 feet and he made a descent in a glide which landed him in a corn field. He made a number of ascensions and executed a great many manouvers in a graceful manner. When visiting at the local Elk club several months ago Mr. Bonney expressed the hope to his friend, Mr. Brown, that he would have the pleasure some day of giving an exhibition flight in this city.

JUDGES WILL GET THE COMPENSATION

By a recent decision of the Circuit court of the Fifth Judicial District, held in Morrow county, the matter of additional compensation due the judges of the Common Pleas court, which the board of accounting of the State of Ohio has held illegal, has been settled in favor of the Common Pleas judges. According to the Ohio statute the salary of the judges is $3,000 per year, with $16 extra, annually, for every 1,000 people in the district. The judges had been collecting this $16 for every 1,000 people in the entire district. The State board of accounting held that it applied only to the population of the judge's own county. The Circuit court held that it applies to the population of the entire district, thus sustaining the contention of the Common Pleas judges.

Then a third boat met the same fate.

San Francisco, July 8.—The steamer Santa Rosa sailed from here Thursday for San Diego and way points with 173 first-class passengers and 27 second-class cabin. Captain J. O. Faria, who relieved Captain Alexander for the trip, was in command, it being his first trip in charge of a steamer.

Charles Miller of San Francisco, who swam ashore through three hundred yards of boiling surf from the Santa Rosa, declared today that he saw a woman with a baby in her arms go down, and F. A. Fairbanks of San Diego and John Tufts of Auburn corroborated this statement. Two sentries were posted along the beach near the scene of the wrecks today to watch for bodies that are expected to float ashore. While the survivors assert that the officials of the steamship company are endeavoring to conceal the number of persons who perished, none of the Santa Rosa officers would say that only Hewsor and three sailors perished.

All the passengers were drenched during the trip from the wreck to the beach and it is feared some will die as the result of the exposure. Seven are taken to hospitals in a a serious condition today.

How Luck Counts in a Position.

A TRUE WANT AD. STORIETTE

(Copyright, 1911, by De Forest Porter.)

"How lucky you are to have such a good position!" How many times have my friends said that to me recently! Now, to tell the truth, there's nothing "lucky" about it. The only streak of luck about it was at the very beginning. Want to hear about it?

Well, this is how it happened

It was a surprise to myself just as it was to my mother and sisters. You see we hadn't been brought up to believe that a woman should earn her own living. That to go out in the business world is a disgrace and one becomes queer and asort of a freak if one really does work, but we were down on our luck. We were a big family, too. The twins were in school Bob left preparatory school and went into a big publishing concern, but Fred and we three girls just sat around the house and were cross. One day Fred said, "How do folks find jobs, anyway?"

"I don't know," I answered. "I never went after one, but I'm going to."

"You?" he said, with a gasp

"Yes, I am. I might as well go out and sell dry goods or hats as to sit around here making life miserable"

"Humph, you don't know anything about business!" He scorned my ambition.

"Well, Fred, I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll wager you the first $2 I earn that I can get a job before you do!"

"I'll take it," Fred answered. "You've lost your money already"

"Now, let's keep it a secret," I said; "not a word to anyone that we're trying to find work"

"Mum's the word," he replied.

I walked down into the heart of the city the next day and wondered how I would get "a job." Suddenly it occurred to me that when mother had wanted a maid she advertised in the paper.

I had the price of the evening paper in my purse, and that was about all. I bought my paper and hurried up to the reading room at the club, and read through the columns of want ads carefully. A big store was advertising for an assistant lace buyer. I made up my mind to answer that ad That was the first streak of luck. The second was when I was perfectly honest with my employer, telling him I had no experience, no business training, that my education had been in private schools, naming the well-established and fashionable boarding school for girls where I had been just graduated. The manager asked me to call the next day. The fact that I didn't know much about lace never occurred to me, and I had not the vaguest ideas of the duties required I could hardly keep secret my appointment, but the next day I had my interview with the manager of the big store, and "landed my job." You can imagine how elated I was and poor Fred! He couldn't believe it, and it was a month later before he found a position, and that was obtained by his putting an ad in the paper from which I had secured mine.

That was a number of years ago, but I'm a thorough business woman, at the head of the lace department now, and when my friends say anything about my luck, I like to tell them about the little want ad experience. Having sense enough to look for a position where it could be found was the good luck which my friends covet

THEFT OF MONEY FROM MAYOR'S HOME AT COSHOCTON, O.

Coshocton, July 8.—The residence of Mayor G. W. Cassingham was entered by a nervy thief Thursday after noon and stole $20 from a dresser drawer in an upstairs bed room. After committing the theft, the bold burglar walked to the front of the house and made a casual inquiry of Mrs. Cassingham, who was sitting on the front porch talking to a neighbor. The thief asked Mrs. Cassingham some irrelevant question regarding the automobile in the garage in the rear of the house.

A half hour after his departure, Mrs. Cassingham has occasion to go to her pocketbook and get some money and found it empty. She at once suspected the man and called her husband, Mayor Cassingham, who detailed a police officer to make an investigation.

It is believed that his arrest will explain the theft of money and diamonds from the home of John W. Cassingham during centennial week as well as the bold robbery of Fred King's residence at Newark.

Here is how he dresses and looks according to the women who talked with him for some time Thursday: Decided blonde, about 5 feet 8 inches tall, rather attractive face with keen blue eyes and light hair. Wore blue serge suit with gray telescoped hat.

SCIENCE MAKING LIFE EASY.

The small things in life are usually the most important—for example, a cake of poor soap may not only spoil the week's wash, and the temper of the housekeeper, but ruin valuable fabrics.

For twenty-five years we have spent a large sum of money educating people as to the soap situation, and it has paid us so far. We will continue the good health campaign and invite you most cordially to give Hewitt's Easy Task soap a trial, giving you the opportunity to do so on the most liberal basis we can offer. Buy two cakes from your grocer for ten cents, and if the first does not please you, return the other and get your money back. Is this good enough?

STATE COMMISSION WILL INVESTIGATE NEWARK CROSSINGS

In reply to a complaint made by the city of Newark regarding the unprotected railroad crossings in the city limits, Clerk of Council James McCarthy has received a communication from the Public Service Commission of Ohio saying that a representative of that body would be in Newark next Monday to make a personal investigation of the conditions at these crossings.

This is a matter of vital interest to all residents in the vicinity of these crossings. The city is making an effort to compel the railroads to place crossing watchmen at all the unprotected crossings and recently a resolution was adopted by the City Council directing the clerk to ask the state to help bring this about.

The letter from the commission follows:

"James McCarthy, Clerk of Council, Newark, O

"Dear Sir: In reply to your communication of the second inst, alleging dangerous condition to exist at First, Second, Pine, Williams and North streets and Oakwood avenue, I have to advise that our Mr. J. B Dugan will make an investigation of the conditions at these crossings at 1:30 Monday, July 10, when he will be pleased to go over the ground in company with yourself and interested citizens.

"Very truly yours

"C. A. Radcliffe, Secretary."

Clerk McCarthy states that he will be pleased to have any residents in the vicinity of these crossings who are interested in having regular watchmen on duty, meet at the council chamber to go with the representative of the commission when he views the various places of danger.

ONLY LIGHT SHOWER FELL YESTERDAY

A right good man was Solomon Ray,
But he had a very unkind way
Of saying every summer's day,
"Is it hot enough for you?"

A traveling man with gripsacks twain
In redhot haste to catch a train,
He greeted with this same refrain,
"Is it hot enough for you?"

They buried Solomon there that day
And on his humble tombstone they Put this inscription, "Solomon Ray,
'Is it hot enough for you?"

Newark people got little relief from the heat even though certain portions of the city and county did get a plentiful precipitation of moisture.

Saturday morning dawned as usual and before noon it was "hot enough" for every one, Solomon Ray included.

People who have suffered intensely from the heat night and day for a week did get a few hours rest Friday night for the rain cooled the atmosphere considerably and sleeping was a real pleasure for once this summer. A few of the more cold blooded people really had to seek a light covering as a protection from the cool air.

The rainstorm seemed to have missed the most of Newark city, although residents south of Maholm street and west of Williams were favored with a good shower.

As stated elsewhere in the Advocate, the downpour at the ball park was little short of a cloudburst. The rain fell in sheets and chunks and the wind which accompanied it drove it through the screen on the front of the grand stand and spolled many dresses and suits.

In the central part of the city merely a tantalizing sprinkle fell and it was not even enough to lay the dust.

In vicility of St. Louisville, rain fell in such quantities that it is reported that many of the smaller streams were swollen to overflowing. The freshet of course did not last long for the ground was so dry that it soon absorbed most of the rain.

At Granville and Hebron the rain was very light, not enough to do the gardens and crops any good.

Here is one case of it:

P. B. Pritchett, 406 Wilson street, Newark, O., says: "It is worth considerable to any resident of Newark to know about Doan's Kidney Pills. When they cure, they do so permanently. I suffered from kidney trouble in 1899 and at that time I used Doan's Kidney Pills. I was pleased to publicly testify to the effect that they cured me and at this time I willingly corroborate my former statement."

PURITY VISITED BY SEVERE STORM FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Large Barn Together With Contents Destroyed by Lightning—A Heavy Loss.

Purity, O., July 8.—One of the worst electric storms that has visited this section, in many years played havoc Friday evening between 4 and 5 o'clock. Great clouds, with a yellowish tinge, loomed up over this part of the county at the time above mentioned and hovered low until the near hurricane subsided. From the first flash of lightning the rain came down in torrents, and people residing in this neighborhood say that it was the greatest rainfall in a given time that can be remembered by the oldest inhabitant in the history of northeastern Licking couny.

During the storm the old barn belonging to Mr. Harvey Coolville, five miles northeast of this place, was struck by lightning, and in an incredible short space of time the entire structure was in flames. The fire was quickly communicated to a large new barn, which joined on to the old one, and it too, was soon enveloped in flames. Notwitshtanding a number of farmers from the surrounding country came to the assistance of Mr. Coolville, and did all they possibly could to extinguish the flames, the entire structure soon burned to the ground, together with all the contents, which included 20 tons of hay, 50 bushels of oats, 300 bushels of wheat, a new corn plow, surrey, buggy, harness and many small farming implements. The loss will amount to several thousand dollars, which is partly covered by insurance.

Amzi Jones, who lives a short distance south of Purity, had four cows and a steer killed by lightning while Samuel Hamilton had five head of hogs killed by the same means.
